

Free entrance to Nuremberg trade fair for IPA members!

As in previous years, IPA members can visit IWA OutdoorClassics, to be held at the Exhibition Centre Nuremberg on 8-11 March 2019, free of charge. Last year's event attracted almost 47,000 trade visitors from all over the world to Nuremberg to learn about the whole range of products and services associated with hunting and shooting sports, traditional outdoor equipment and security from 1,562 exhibitors representing more than 50 countries. The Nuremberg liaison office of the International Police Association has once again worked together with NürnbergMesse to arrange free entry for IPA members worldwide to this world-leading event.

Equipment for official security applications is an important element of IWA OutdoorClassics, offering a broad range of products and services. A growing number of specialised exhibitors is on hand in Nuremberg every year with a wide range of special products and services: guns and ammunition for official agencies, optics and optronics, clothing and equipment, training, trade information and much more besides. Visitors to the trade fair have the opportunity to learn about the latest technical developments and discuss with manufacturers ways of optimising the essential elements for day-to-day use.

A logical extension of a security-related development that has enjoyed steady growth in recent years within IWA OutdoorClassics is the speciality exhibition Enforce Tac, International Exhibition & Conference – Law Enforcement, Security and Tactical Solutions. On Wednesday 6 and Thursday 7 March 2019, the two days preceding IWA OutdoorClassics, Enforce Tac will represent the highly specialised aspect of this segment for the seventh time. Because of its specialised nature, it will be open exclusively to representatives from the authorities and specially authorised trade visitors from the police, customs, justice and armed forces.

The entrance ticket for IWA OutdoorClassics and Enforce Tac will also provide access to U.T.SEC – Summit for Drones, Unmanned Technologies & Security will be held at the Exhibition Centre Nuremberg on 6-7 March 2019. U.T.SEC focuses on monitoring, protection and control of traffic, infrastructure and plant in the industrial and energy sector, and their use by the police and other rescue services. The growth in

How do I get my ticket?

To maintain the professional level of the events, IWA OutdoorClassics and Enforce Tac are restricted solely to professional visitors with proper credentials, i.e. for IPA members subject to presentation of their official identity card and IPA membership card.

To avoid unnecessary queuing, advance registration for IWA OutdoorClassics 2019 can be completed on-line in advance at www.iwa.info/en/visitors/tickets/voucher. The Ticket Shop is open on the Internet from December 2018. You will need to have your IPA card with you to prove your credentials. You can obtain the personal coupon code that you will need via the Nuremberg liaison office of the IPA.

Attendance at Enforce Tac is restricted to officers on active duty, subject to presentation of ID; IPA members can also obtain a free admission ticket in the entrance area. Permanent tickets are available for IPA members at the entrance to the Exhibition Centre Nuremberg against presentation of a service ID (which serves as authorisation) and their IPA membership card. The trade fair is open from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on the Wednesday and Thursday. The Enforce Tac entrance ticket is also valid on the following days for entry to IWA OutdoorClassics and U.T.SEC.

Information on this offer can be obtained from IPA-Verbindungsstelle Nuremberg e. V., Thomas Schubert, Jakobsplatz 5, 90331 Nuremberg, e-mail: thomas.schubert@ipa-nuernberg.de.
